

A&E's Storage Wars features Hanger Clinic prosthetic experts

November 15, 2018

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov.15, 2018 – When Darrell Sheets of A&E's Storage Wars found an old prosthetic arm and leg in a storage unit in Los Angeles, he knew he needed help identifying when the devices were made and what they might be worth. So he turned to the experts: Hanger Clinic Vice President of Prosthetics Kevin Carroll, MS, CP, FAAOP(D) and Cameron Clapp, a triple amputee who's been a proficient user of some of the most advanced prosthetic technology in the world for more than 15 years. Sheets linked up with Carroll and Clapp at the Hanger Clinic location in Downey, California, where they shed some light on Sheets' find, and on just how far prosthetic technology has come.

For information on how to watch the segment, which was part of Storage Wars' season 12 premiere, titled "The Jenny, The Baker, The Prosthetics Maker," visit: <https://www.aetv.com/shows/storage-wars/season-12/episode-1>.
