

Hanger Clinic Names Shane Wurdeman, PhD as Chief Clinical Officer

Austin, Texas, January 9, 2025 – Hanger Clinic is pleased to announce Shane Wurdeman, PhD as its Chief Clinical Officer, leading the company's Clinical and Scientific Affairs \(CSA\) team and the Hanger Institute, effective immediately. Wurdeman succeeds James Campbell, PhD, who will focus on his role as President of Hanger Ventures, Hanger's subsidiary that invests in entrepreneurs and small businesses to bring innovative orthotic and prosthetic (O&P) healthcare solutions to the market.

"Shane has dedicated his career to evidence-based advancements that have improved the lives of thousands of patients, both at Hanger Clinic and beyond," said Pete Stoy, Hanger CEO. "He's the ideal choice to succeed Dr. Campbell as the leader of our CSA and Institute teams as we continually strive to positively impact the patients we're privileged to serve."

Wurdeman was previously Hanger's Vice President of Scientific Affairs. A recognized leader in the profession, he is a Fellow with Distinction of the American Academy of Orthotists and Prosthetists, serves as the Research Director for the American Orthotic and Prosthetic Association, and co-founded the Orthotics and Prosthetics Foundation for Education and Research.

"I am honored to take on this new role and look forward to advancing the work of the CSA team and the Hanger Institute as part of our commitment to serve as a leader in the O&P field, using leading-edge research to advance clinical practice and improving patient outcomes globally," said Wurdeman.
